Full Bio (Long Form)

Jerome Mark Mikulich is the Founder and Chief Executive Officer of CityByApp™ Inc., a Delaware corporation that has been operating since 2013 and now powers civic publishing for 276,299 verified members across 170+ countries. He is also the architect of ByApp.ai, the AI infrastructure layer designed to defragment civic information and consolidate every legitimate civic voice in one verified place.

Mikulich brings more than 30 years of experience across sales, marketing strategy, business development, and civic technology. CityByApp™ currently anchors three live multi-year regional contracts: Southern California (anchored by the Old Town Temecula Association), Southeast Colorado (anchored by the City of Lamar), and Northwest Indiana (41 municipalities, ~23,000 businesses, ~1M residents).

In 2026, he launched the HeroByApp™ Founding 50 — a permanent program that honors one extraordinary community leader in every U.S. state capital. The inaugural ceremony targets Wednesday, July 29, 2026 (proposed, pending Office of Congressman Carson approval) at the Office of Congressman André Carson in Indianapolis, honoring Sergeant Major Mary L. Aurtrey (Ret.) as Certificate #HBA-2026-0001.

Mikulich has been recognized by four U.S. presidential administrations: President Obama (2017) — Presidential Lifetime Achievement Award; President Trump (2019 & 2020) — President's Volunteer Service Award (received twice); President Biden (2022) — Presidential Lifetime Achievement Award (4,000+ hours); and a 2025 White House Acknowledgment of Innovation from the Office of President Donald J. Trump.

He has been honored by the Economic Development Coalition of Southwest California with an Innovation Award, and is a Hearts Without Borders Global Award Honoree, recognizing decades of contribution to civic technology and platform leadership.
